

As avid radio listeners, we want an expansion of community radio, including Low Power FM radio, to reach our neighborhood. We are worried that big companies will buy up all the stations around.

We also want to protect local news broadcasts, and give local citizens the power to make our voices heard on our own airwaves.

Lastly, we hope the FCC will restrict the ability of big companies like Clear Channel and Viacom to buy up all the stations in our town. Aren't the airwaves commonly owned by the people?
